CAPT. ANSBRO'S TRIAL

Accused of Dumping Mud in Coney

Island Channels. Capt. John Ansbro, of the tug Stephen Decatur, indicted for illegally dumping refuse in the east and west Coney Island channels, was placed on trial to-day be-fore a jury in the United States Circuit

Ansbro had obtained license for dump ing matter in proper localities, from the New York, but it is charged that Ansbro dumped mud one and a half miles from the spots where he was authorized to do

So.

He is said to have been employed by the Morris & Cuming Company, who are conducting extension reclamation works at Hay Ridge, L. I.

Especial attention has been given to Ansbro's alleged violation of the law, because it is claimed the mud he is alleged to have dumped, was particularly obstructive. Some of Ansbro's own crew, with whom he had a disagreement, notined the Government, and they are the principal witnesses against him.

Louis S. Stern, a member of the firm of Stern & Co., dealer in men's furnishings, at 869 Broadway, committed suicide this morning by drowning himself in the Central Park reservoir. Before his body had been discovered

Deputy Sheriff Hamburger was in charge of Stern & Co.'s store, having seized the stock on executions issued It is apparent, therefore, that Stern, les by plunging into the reservoir. Park Policeman John J. Smith, of the Mounted Squad, while riding along the west side of the reservoir saw a group of people on the bank gesticulating and pointing into the water. He dismounted and walked up the bank and saw a dark object bobbing up and down in the water. Smith whistled for assistance and Policeman John C. Reyer responded. With the aid of a rope ladder the policemen succeeded in getting the body ashore. A hat, which was floating near by, was also hauled out.

On the sweat band was found the name of Louis S. Stern, and the address, 50 West Ninety-seventh street. A policeman was sent to the house, and he learned that Mr. Stern had been missing for some days, but no further information could be obtained as to the causes which would lead him to commit suicide. In the suicide's pockets were found 3.16 in money, a gold watch and chain and a pass over the Pennsylvania Railroad.

When an "Evening World" reporter called at the house he, too, was refused any information.

The eyes of the girl who opened the door were inflamed from weeping, and a young lady who also appeared in the hall had a tear-stained face, but resolutely declined to say a word.

The police, failing to get any satisfaction from the family, sent the body to the Morgue.

The firm was composed of Samuel Leopold and Louis, his brother. They had been in business for more than thirty years and had always borne a good reputation. The liabilities are estimated to be in the neighborhood of $50,000.
